

Acer TravelMate Tablet PC Provides Support for Local Chiropractic Office

Under the guidance of Dr. Christopher Wilkerson, Carson Doctors Group provides chiropractic care and specializes in creative proven chiropractic solutions.

Dr. Wilkerson prides himself on incorporating the latest and best technology and has operated Carson Doctors Group as a paperless digital office since 1999. In the past, computers were used primarily to support business applications such as accounting and word processing; the use of computers to improve patient care was limited by the size, weight, cost and ergonomics of conventional portable computers.

Finding a truly portable device without those limitations, which would help him serve his patients in a clinical environment, has long been a goal of Dr. Wilkerson. The Acer TravelMate C110 Convertible Tablet PC helped Dr. Wilkerson make his goal a reality.

Making the “Write” Choice

Previously, Dr. Wilkerson had been using both a Fujitsu tablet and Pocket PC interchangeably. Always looking for better hardware and software solutions, he has developed purchasing criteria for his applications and platforms. The most important feature that he was searching for was a tablet with a convertible design, which would enable him to enter patient information quickly and efficiently.

Dr. Wilkerson discovered that the Acer TravelMate C110 was the first convertible Tablet to incorporate Intel® Centrino® Mobile Technology with up to 2 GB of memory. Other design features that helped him make his decision were the powerful performance, built in Wi-Fi and lightweight form factor. “The combination of screen, weight and keyboard of the Acer TravelMate made my decision simple,” said Dr. Wilkerson.

In addition, he also appreciated the personal attention he received from his local Acer representative, who visited Carson Chiropractic and demonstrated the benefits of the Acer Tablet PC to the doctor.

“I have owned multiple Tablet PC’s in the past and pound for pound, this Acer is unequivocally the best,” said Dr. Wilkerson, “This 3 lb., true color, pen convertible unit enables me to execute a patient encounter with all the added benefits of the Microsoft Windows XP tablet edition operating system, including handwriting recognition, Voice Recognition, office professional software, and other robust applications. The Acer Tablet PC puts the "personal" back in personal computing."

Facilitate Quality Care

Technology can facilitate communication and save time. The Acer TravelMate C110 convertible Tablet PC has improved the flow of clinical information within the Carson Doctors Group to those involved in the care delivery process. With his Acer Tablet PC, Dr. Wilkerson is able to capture critical patient data at the point of care and enables the doctor to chart patients in his treatment room without having to hook up a keyboard

The built in Wi-Fi enables Dr. Wilkerson, as well as his staff members, to share insurance and patient information while also facilitating communication between the office staff, while roaming around the office.

Doctor Wilkerson believes that a Tablet PC is better than a Pocket PC for electronic medical records because it is a more dynamic communication tool. The Acer TravelMate C110 convertible Tablet PC offers more "visual real-estate," and can be easily networked with other LAN PCs. Whatever you can do with a pen and paper or a desktop PC, you can do with an Acer Tablet PC.

The Acer TravelMate C110 convertible Tablet PC is just what the Doctor ordered!
